Alabama Takes an Old-School Approach to Rebound Program

When Alabama women's basketball coach Wendell Hudson first explained to his new team about the fresh, up-tempo style of basketball he wanted to instill in the program following the team's recent coaching change, he just had to smile.

It was a method that was getting his players excited at the prospect of running the floor, scoring on fast breaks and putting up points. But his laughter came for another reason.

"When I talk about playing the up-tempo style, they get a smile on their face," he said. "Everybody wants to play that way. They're young enough that they want to play that way because that's the way everyone's playing now.

"But I laugh when I listen to them, thinking, 'You think this is something new,' when teams have always been playing like this."

Tierney Jenkins

"When I talk about playing the up-tempo style, they get a smile on their face. Everybody wants to play that way. They're young enough that they want to play that way because that's the way everyone's playing now."

– Head Coach
Wendell Hudson

Hudson's reaction is an appropriate sign of who he is as a coach – stylistically modern but quintessentially old school in his approach to the game. After leaving his post in the Alabama athletic department, where he served as Associate Athletics Director for Alumni Relations, to replace Stephany Smith as head women's basketball coach, it didn't take long to realize that a breath of fresh air would be needed to revamp a program that has won a single conference game in two years.

That change, Hudson said, will come in a faster game on both sides of the floor. But despite any change in styles on the court, underneath it all, he said, the approach to the game will be nothing new.

"There's not anything new in basketball," Hudson said. "We're going to be fundamentally sound on both ends of the court and take advantage of fast break opportunities, without question. We're going to try to push the basketball. I don't know how the players are going to fit in right now, and that's what I tell them – they will determine how much we run and how effective we'll do it."

Aiding in the Alabama coaching transition is the fact that Hudson, in addition to his previous administrative post in the Alabama athletic department, has much deeper ties to Alabama – a former player under coach C.M. Newton, Hudson was the first black scholarship athlete at the university. He later coached under Newton during a period the Tide went 129-41 and earned three consecutive SEC titles to go with one NCAA Sweet 16 appearance.

"It's easier, especially with my history at Alabama," he said. "Not only recent history, but the history here in general. We also have hired two other people on the staff who have played at Alabama. From the standpoint of understanding Alabama, I think we have a good group of people, and coming from an administrative standpoint, you look at things a little different in administration than you do as a coach. So what I've had the pleasure of doing is that I know where it all fits in, and I think that helps the transition."

Additionally, Hudson returns all but one of his starters from last year's young Alabama squad, with a roster that features just one senior, guard Camilla Blands, to go with 10 underclassmen.

Alabama's youth, Hudson said, may prove to be beneficial in that it gives him a chance to start fresh with his players. At the same time, however, the roster provides a great deal of SEC experience that he knows will also prove helpful as the Tide adjusts to a new system.

"The biggest thing we talked to them about is that, first of all, everyone's slate is clean," he said. "Whether you played or didn't play, everybody's going to have an opportunity. But the experience of playing in the SEC will be a great benefit. I watched this team play, and I don't think they are as far away as other people may think.

"I think there are little things that make a big difference in every game – a turnover here or there, a rebound not coming down. I think if you make adjustments and cut down on the little things that get you beat, then you can have an opportunity to win,"

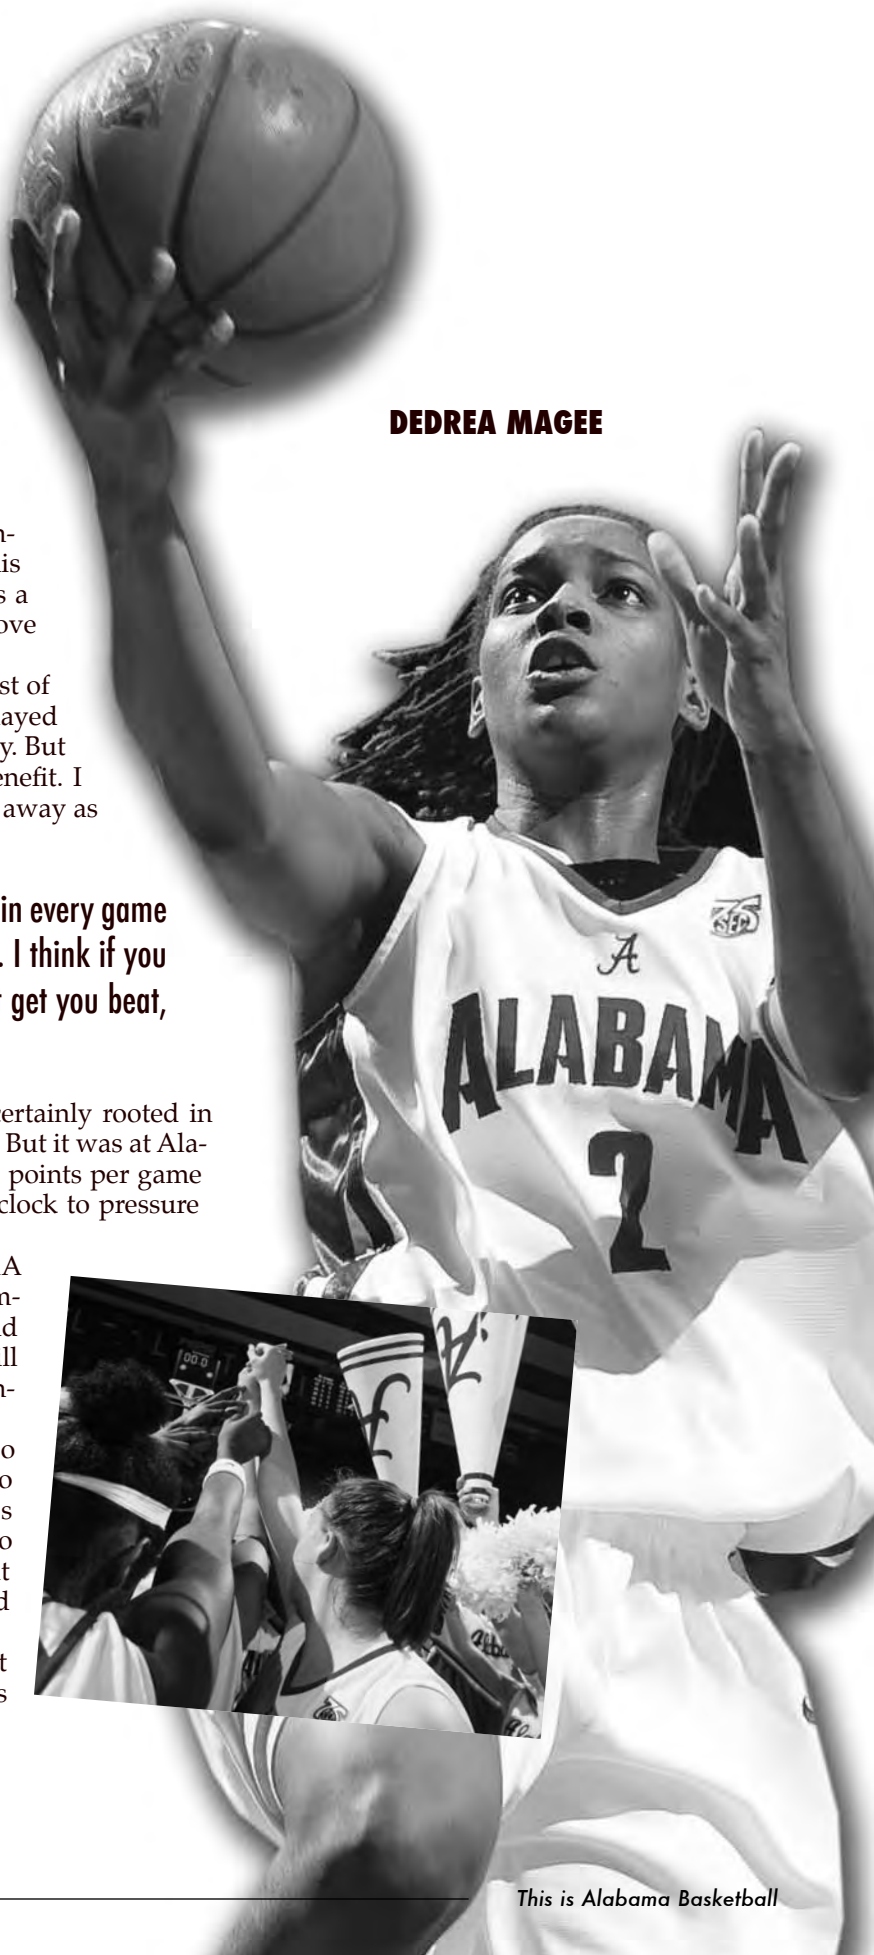

Hudson's devotion to an up-tempo style of play is certainly rooted in his days as a player, stretching back even to high school. But it was at Alabama, he said, that the Crimson Tide averaged 75 or 80 points per game under Newton, despite having no 3-point line or shot clock to pressure the offense into hurrying.

Today, he wants to adapt that system to fit the NCAA landscape that already exists — despite the growing number of teams running faster offenses in both the men's and women's games, he said, the game of basketball is still conducive to an offense that operates on the fundamentals of the game.

"When I was coaching, at every place the up-tempo style attracts players because you give them a chance to affect the game through their skills," Hudson said. "It's the kind of basketball I like to watch and that fans like to watch. It's the kind of basketball everyone's playing, but it's not a recent thing. It's something I've always believed in.

"We'd like to score 100 points a game," he said, "but we'd like to win a lot of those games we score 100 points in."

This Is Alabama

THIS IS ALABAMA BASKETBALL

"The best and the brightest arrive at Alabama with very high expectations. They expect outstanding academic programs, superior teaching, strong staff support and first-class facilities. It is imperative as we attract these bright young people that we grow with balanced excellence and that is exactly what we are doing."

Alabama President Dr. Robert E. Witt

As president of The University of Alabama, Dr. Robert E. Witt has committed the University to an ambitious plan for growth and achievement. His goals include increasing enrollment to 28,000 students by 2010 and stimulating significant growth in research in support of economic expansion for the state and nation. Under his leadership, enrollment has reached record levels and academic quality has increased significantly. The University ranks 12th nationally among public universities in the enrollment of National Merit Scholars and leads the nation in the number of students named to USA Today's All-USA College Academic Teams. Since its inception in 2003, the University's Honors College has grown exponentially, enrolling more than 1,000 freshmen in 2007. Dr. Witt has also led a major building program on campus with 20 new facilities opening in the last five years. Private giving to the University is at an all-time high with supporters embracing the "Our Students. Our Future." capital campaign and its major goal of improving scholarship opportunities for deserving students.

Now in his sixth year as president, Dr. Witt came to UA with 35 years experience in the University of Texas System. He received his B.A. in economics from Bates College, his M.B.A. from Tuck School at Dartmouth College, and his Ph.D. from Penn State University. He currently chairs the board of directors of the West Alabama Chamber of Commerce, serves on the board of directors of the Black Warrior Council Boy Scouts of America and is a member of the Tuscaloosa County Industrial Development Authority. Dr. Witt and his wife Sandee have two grandchildren.

Seven Students Named to USA Today's All-USA College Academic Team – Seven University of Alabama students were named to the 2008 USA Today All-USA College Academic Team, the most of any school. This year's team brings UA's total for the last six years to 31, a figure that tops all other colleges and universities. In addition to this year, UA had the most students on the list in 2006 with six and in 2005 and 2003, both with five. In 2007, UA tied with Washington University-St. Louis for the most team members with four. In 2004, with four students on the team, UA came in second only to Harvard. Pictured (L-R) are Renee Rivas, Jackson Switzer, Dana Lewis, Dylan Whisenhunt, Adam Harbison, Michelle McGaha and Alex Flachsbart.

ATHLETICS DIRECTOR MAL MOORE

Normally, the naming of a building in your honor would serve as a fitting end to an outstanding career, but Mal Moore's ongoing vision remains focused on two primary objectives: elevating athletic facilities at the Capstone to premier status nationally for all sports and making all Crimson Tide athletic teams competitive at the highest level nationally.

Moore's distinguished record of service to UA began almost 50 years ago when he joined the Crimson Tide football squad as a scholarship player for Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant from 1958-62. He earned a bachelor's degree in sociology in 1963 and a master's in secondary education in 1962. Moore has the distinction of earning seven national championship rings during his career as a player and coach, the first as a member of the Crimson Tide's 1961 national championship team.

During his coaching tenure, Moore served as Coach Bryant's graduate assistant in 1964, then as defensive backfield coach for five years beginning in 1965 before becoming quarterbacks coach from 1971-1982 and taking on additional responsibility as the Tide's first offensive coordinator in 1975. He is the only individual connected with the Alabama coaching staffs, both past and present, to be a part of seven national championships (1961, 1964, 1965, 1973, 1978, 1979, and 1992). After coaching stops at Montana State, Notre Dame and the NFL's St. Louis and Phoenix Cardinals, Moore returned to Alabama and was named assistant athletics director in 1993 and associate director for external affairs in 1994. He

"Mal Moore is The University of Alabama. He is the person that wants every program at The Capstone to be a success. Coach Moore was a great deal of help to me as an administrator and has continued to be an asset to me as a coach."

- Head Coach Wendell Hudson

was named director of athletics on Nov. 23, 1999.

Three elements of his story make Mal Moore deserving of a special place in UA athletics history. First, he has been a part of seven national championship football teams (as a player and coach). Second, he's been the leader who brought the UA athletic program into the 21st century in terms of facilities and staffing. Third and, perhaps most importantly, his love for the University of Alabama is unsurpassed.

Now in his 10th year as the Tide's Director of Athletics, Moore made an indelible mark on one of the nation's most storied athletic programs. Alabama's athletic teams have excelled in competition and he directed completion of a $125 million facilities campaign that revitalized the Crimson Tide's athletic facilities.

Moore's leadership and vision enabled the monumental project to reach fruition.

A 1963 graduate of The University of Alabama, Moore holds both an undergraduate degree in Sociology and a 1964 Master's Degree in Secondary Education from the Capstone. A scholarship player for Coach Paul W. "Bear" Bryant, Moore was a member of Alabama's 1961 national championship team.

Under Moore's direction Alabama's athletic teams have produced a number of Southeastern Conference titles, including men's basketball, gymnastics, baseball men's golf and softball and SEC tournament titles in both baseball and softball, and an NCAA gymnastics title. Alabama athletes have earned some of the highest honors the SEC and NCAA have to offer, including SEC Athlete of the Year, SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year, NCAA Top VIII, NCAA Postgraduate Scholarships and NCAA Sportsman of the Year. These honors are over and above the individual conference and national titles that Alabama athletes continue to bring home to the Capstone.

Coaching football for 31 years, 22 of those at Alabama, provided Moore with a wealth of experience and knowledge in the world of college athletics. Alabama won national championships, in 1964, 1965, 1973, 1978, 1979 and 1992 with Moore coordinating all the offensive plays for the last four of those championship teams. Moore was born December 19, 1939, in Dozier, Ala. He has been married to the former Charlotte Davis of Tuscaloosa since July 20, 1968. They have one daughter, Mrs. Steve (Heather) Cook of Scottsdale, Ariz., a granddaughter, Anna Lee, and a grandson, Charles Cannon. (pictured above, Heather, Coach Moore, Steve Cook, Anna Lee, and Charles Cannon.)

CRIMSON TIDE APARTMENTS

The newly renovated Bryant Hall houses everything that a student-athlete could need.

The apartments are spacious and equipped with kitchenettes, tile bathrooms, lots of counter space and high ceilings.

BRYANT HALL

Paul W. Bryant Academic Center

From the moment a recruit first walks on to the campus to the moment an athlete graduates with diploma in hand, the academic services provided are outstanding. For the first year at the Capstone, freshmen and junior college transfers are required to attend nightly study halls. After that, the attendance is based on the individual's GPA and study needs.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE

The CASS staff works as a liaison between the Athletic Department, undergraduate divisions, and administrative office of the university. The staff offers career advice and counseling, makes sure all athletes are maintaining satisfactory progress toward their degrees and monitors academic eligibility.

All of these services begin with the recruit's first visit. The advisors set up individual appointments within the department of the recruit's area of study and accompany them to the meeting. They give the recruit a tour of the campus and go over services provided by CASS.

The Amelia Gayle Gorgas Library serves as the Capstone's main area of reference holding over one million books. The Ferguson Center Game Room located on the First Floor is the perfect place to unwind, test your skill at a video game, play a friendly game of pool or ping-pong, or enter a campus tournament. With seven pool tables, video games, a ping-pong table, computer gaming and televisions, the Game Room offers a fun escape to the daily pressures of college life.

The Ferguson Center, completed in 1973, was named for Hill Ferguson, a member of the Board of Trustees. Plans at the time called for the building to be constructed over Woods Hall, but it was built just to the north thanks to a student campaign to save the art building.

STUDENT RECREATION CENTER

Intramural sports are also offered on campus for those looking for recreational competition.

The newly expanded Student Recreation Center offers first-class recreation facilities to students, faculty and staff.

The expanded facility includes two multi-use gyms, nine multi-purpose courts, weight machines, 1/8-mile jogging track, extensive cardio area, locker rooms, indoor swimming pool, dry and steam saunas, 12 lighted tennis courts, four aerobics rooms, eight racquetball courts and a squash court—together encompassing more than 200,000 square feet.

The facility's outdoor aquatic area, which opened in the summer of 2003, features a lazy river, lap swim, large water-park-type slide and lots of deck space.

If academic excellence, character and values, pride and tradition, service and leadership are important to you, then you belong at The University of Alabama.

Everything you need to find your place with the best and brightest is here - a beautiful campus, 200 academic majors, outstanding Honors programs, freshman learning communities and generous scholarships and financial aid. Your options for involvement are many, from our championship athletic tradition and diverse volunteer opportunities to our Greek society and state-of-the-art student recreation center. ATHLETIC TRAINING

Alabama ensures the safety of its athletes by assigning at least one athletic trainer to each team to cover home and away events, conditioning, practice and travel.

Even with the most physically conditioned athletes, injury can occur. The University of Alabama has a full staff of doctors and athletic trainers ready to lend their expertise to any medical situation so Alabama's athletes can return to play in peak condition as soon as possible.

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

The Tide's 22,000 square-foot weight room consists of 24 platforms attached to state-of-the-art racks with Eiko bars for power cleans, snatches, back squats, front squats, split jerks and bench press.

Maximizing potential is the goal of the conditioning program at The University of Alabama. Under Coach Hudson and his staff, players can reach and surpass their highest expectations.

EQUIPMENT

The design of the University of Alabama equipment room was based on similar areas from professional franchises.

Space-saver shelving allows equipment managers easy access to athletic gear in first-class storage.

The Tide uses state-of-the-art washers and dryers with a computerized detergent system that allows large loads of clothes to be cleaned quickly while saving time and energy.

The Alabama women's basketball team completes several hours of community service each year. Local organizations and events the team has been involved with includes the Capstone Village Retirement Home, Fifth Grade Fastbreak program, Girl Scouts, golf outings and free kids clinics.

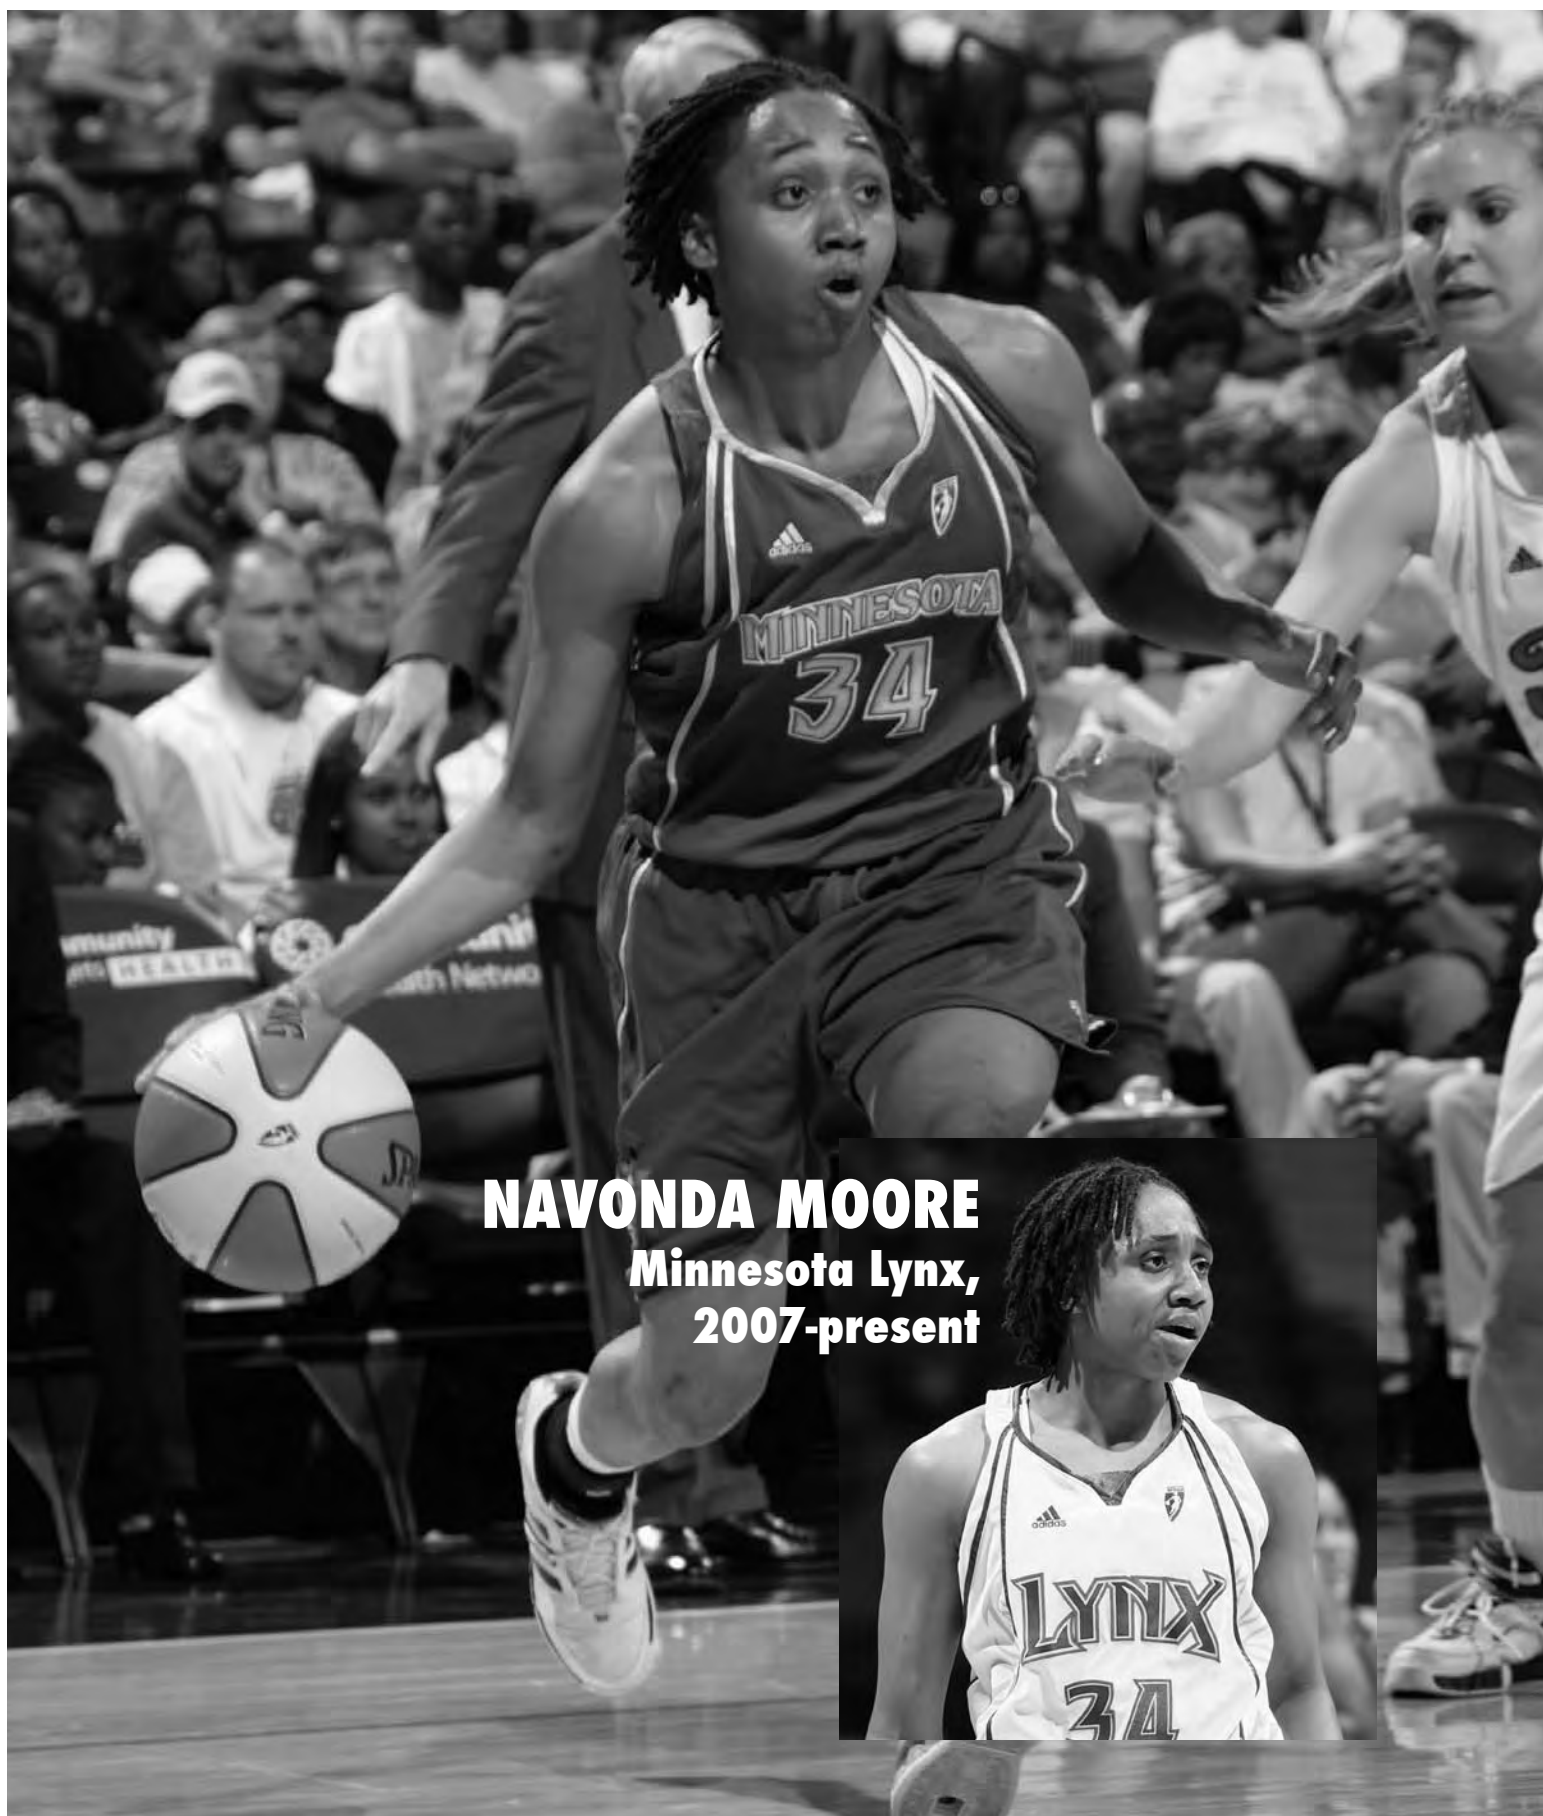

TRAVELING WITH THE TIDE

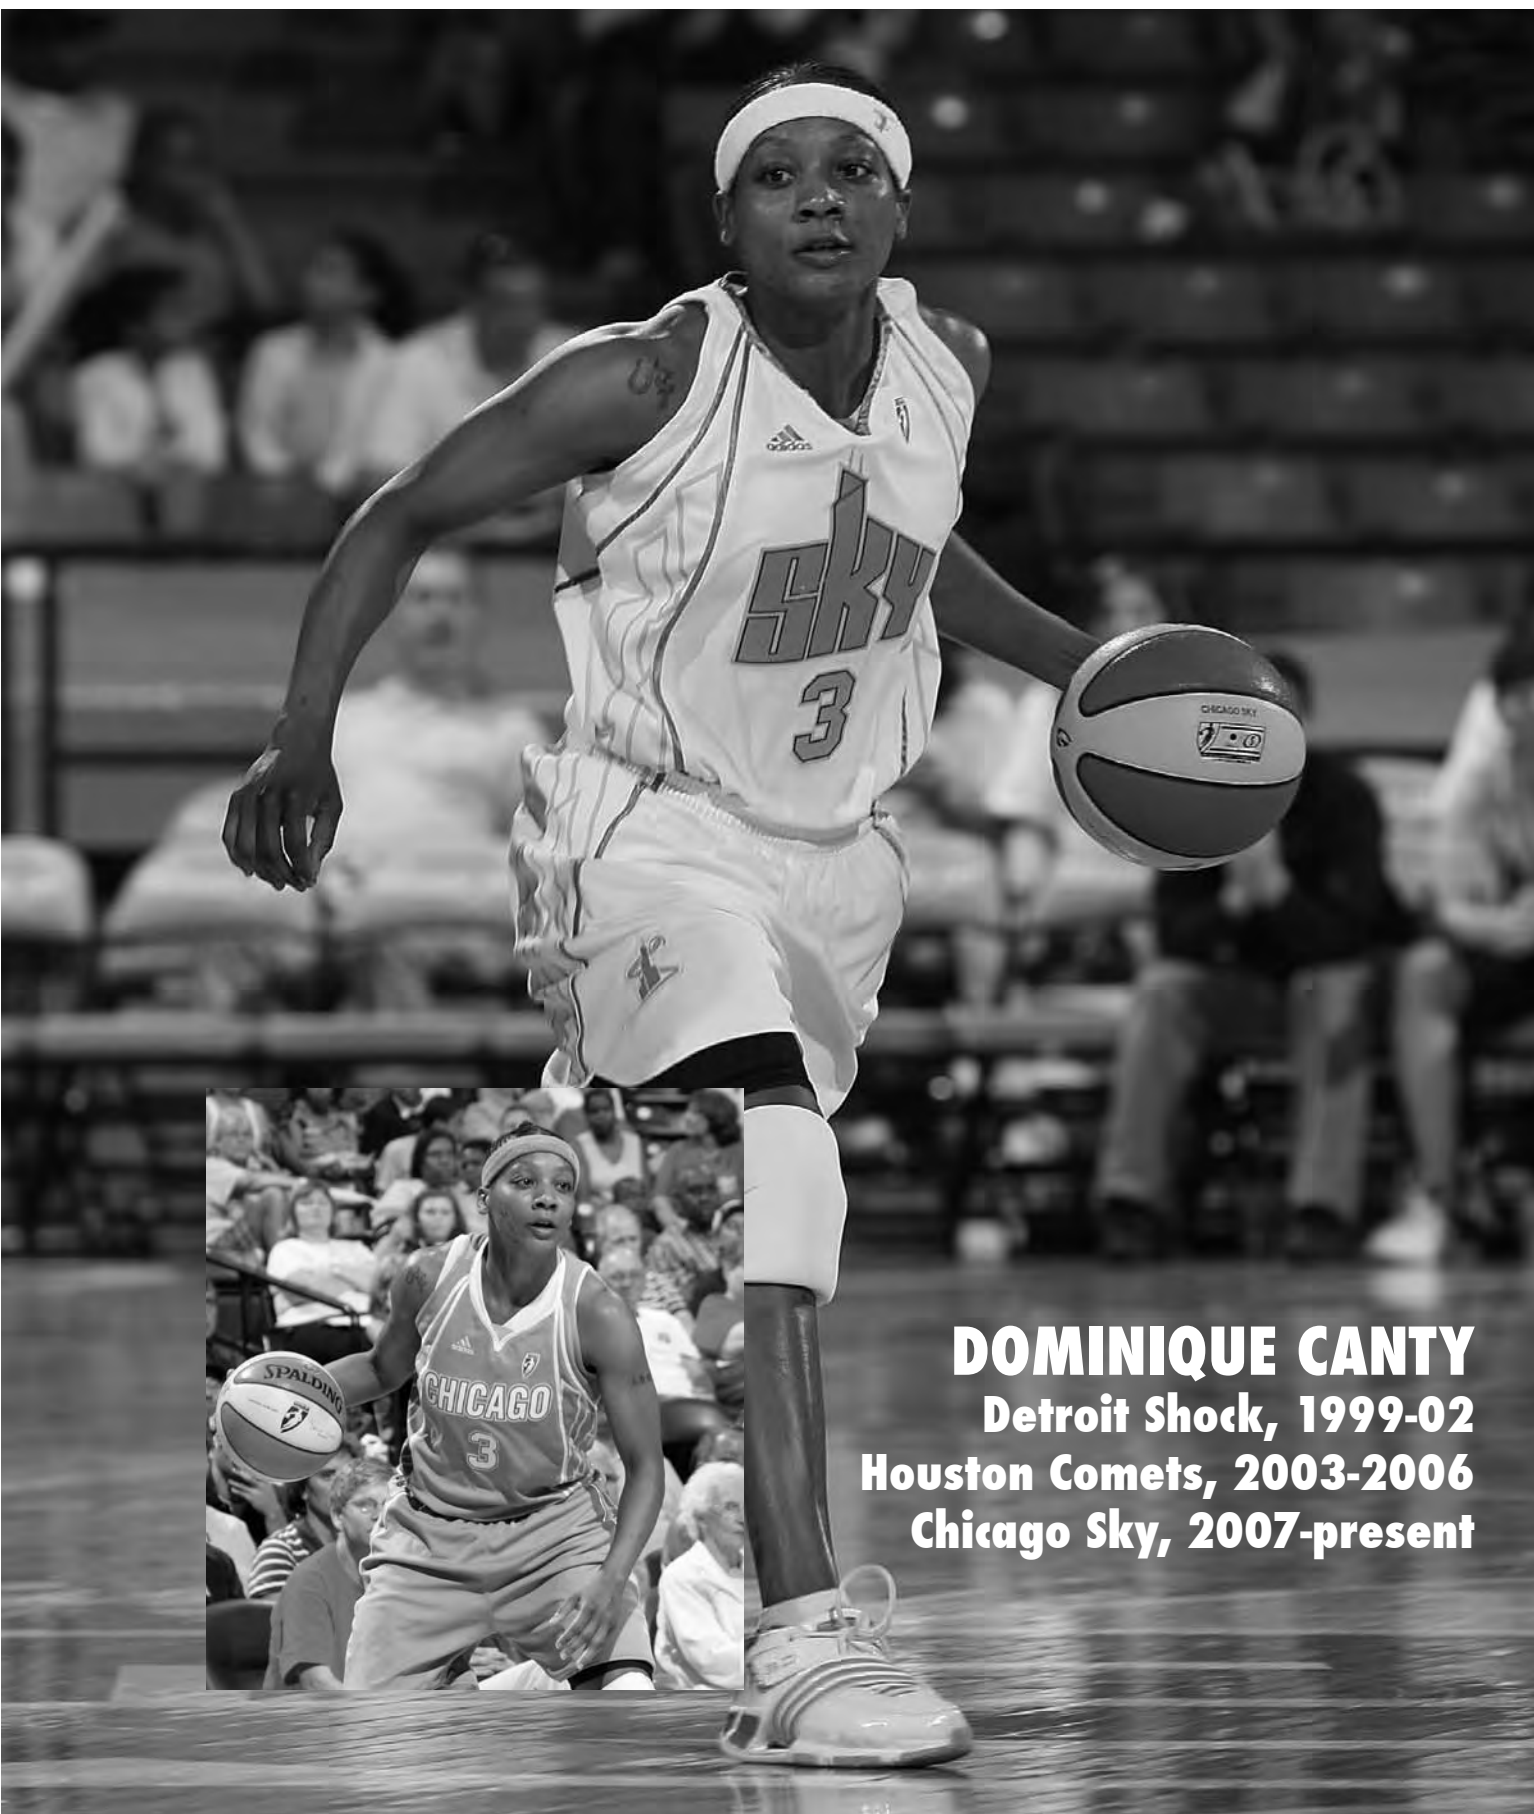

During the 2007-08 season, the Tide traveled to Freeport, Bahamas to take part in the Fifth Annual Junkanoo Jam Tournament hosted by the Bahamas Basketball Federation. Alabama played two games while on the island and celebrated Thanksgiving, Junkanoo style, complete with a meal and traditional skit.

Wendell Hudson, former Associate Athletics Director for Alumni Relations was named the eighth head women's basketball coach of The University of Alabama Crimson Tide. Hudson will return to the hard floor where he has over 26 years of coaching experience.

"In addition to being the first African American scholarship athlete at the University of Alabama Wendell has remained a respected and important individual at our University for many years," Director of Athletics, Mal Moore said. "He is uniquely qualified for this position at this time. I can think of no one that understands the landscape and the challenges, as well as the opportunities that face our women's program at this time. When you consider he has excellent basketball contacts throughout the region and the nation I think Wendell is positioned to greatly help our recruiting efforts."

"This is going to be a good move for me and the university," Hudson said.

"I have a tremendous passion for Alabama athletics. I know I can get the best out of people and can get people to work hard together. This is going to be a really good challenge and I look forward to getting started."

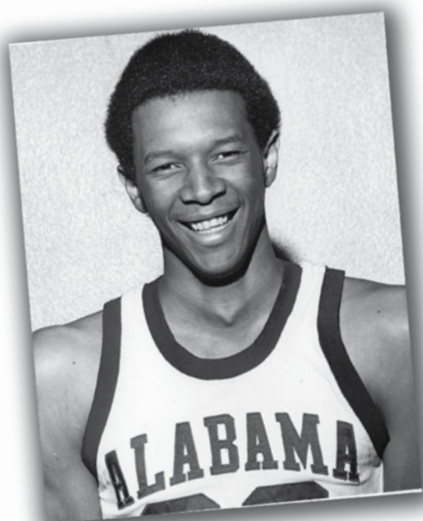

A veteran basketball coach with over 26 years of experience with both men and women's teams, including seven seasons in the SEC, Hudson has a proven track record of success, especially in the state of Alabama. Hudson began his coaching at Alabama under C.M. Newton as an assistant coach from 1974-79. On the sideline as an assistant at the Capstone, Hudson helped the Tide compile a 129-41 record that included three-straight SEC titles and a Sweet 16 appearance in 1976. The Tide was ranked in the nation's top-10 for 43 of 54 weeks during its three year SEC title run.

The Alabama grad then moved on to be an assistant at North Alabama where his teams recorded an overall record of 56-31, including two trips to the NCAA Division II Tournament where the Lions went to the Final Four in the 1979-80 season.

Other coaching stops included Rice (1982-83), Ole Miss (1983-85) and Baylor (1985-86) before he turned his career to athletics administration at McLennan Community College in Waco, Texas in 1986. While at McLennan CC, Hudson also served as the women's basketball coach from 1986-1999. In the 2001 season, Hudson took over the head coaching duties for the men's squad. In the 12 seasons at McLennan, Hudson compiled a 239-127 overall record, including a 219-117 mark as the head women's coach for 11 seasons.

Hudson, an All-American basketball player and member of the ASHOF, returned to the University of Alabama as Associate Athletics Director for Alumni Relations. Hired on Sept. 18, 2003, Hudson left the job where he had served for six years as Athletics Director at McLennan CC to return to his Alma Mater. He had served as assistant AD for four years before being named McLennan's AD. The Birmingham native graduated from Alabama in 1973 with a Bachelor of Science degree. Alabama's first African American scholarship athlete of any sport, he was a 2nd round draft pick by the NBA's Chicago Bulls. He also played for the ABA's Memphis Tams.

He is married to the former Belinda Urvie and has five children; Traci, Tasha, Michelle, David and Hawvy.

Q & A

WENDELL HUDSON

What are you most excited about this season?

"I am really most excited about putting this team together and watching it develop and grow. I have been encouraged by the amount of growth I have already seen from the off-season work each one has put in."

What do you look for in a student-athlete that makes you feel like she would be a great fit at Alabama?

"The first thing I do is see if she can play with intensity. That is so important to me. Second, I like to look at the entire package including her academics and personality to go along with basketball ability."

What are some of the selling points about the University of Alabama that makes it stand out from other institutions?

"I have to take this opportunity to tell a story. I was on a trip in Texas and someone asked me where I worked. When I told him Alabama he exclaimed, 'The Crimson Tide Alabama?' I think that statement in itself speaks boundaries of this institution. Alabama is Crimson Tide. Its history from an athletic standpoint certainly helps in making it special. At some point, each one of the athletic programs here has been successful. That's not something everyone can say."

As a former student-athlete at Alabama, what are some of the things you liked most?

"First let me say I wouldn't have left my job in Texas for anywhere but here. I feel like I could make a lot of commercials for the University because I love this place so much. I had a great time here as a student during a tough time. People ask me if I would do it over again, and I always say, 'Yes!'"

What coach or figure has served as your mentor?

"There are a couple of great high school coaches, and one in particular is Cap Brown. Of course, coming to the University of Alabama C.M. Newton has to be another figure that has inspired me. Everyone loved him. After coaching here and moving along to several other assistant coaching stops I saw just how great a job he did influencing me."

Alabama head women's basketball coach Wendell Hudson brought back one its own to serve as associate head coach on the Alabama women's staff. Joni Crenshaw will begin her first season on the sideline at the Capstone.

"Adding Joni to our staff will be a major contribution to our program," Hudson said. "Joni is someone who played here at Alabama and was a really good player, good person and also is a great coach, an excellent recruiter."

"What we are trying to do here is bring back the tradition and former players to get them reconnected with the program, regardless of who they played for or when they played. I think that is key to what we stand for."

Joni Crenshaw completed her third season at Louisiana Tech as a member of head coach Chris Long's coaching staff, her first as the associate head coach following a July 1 promotion.

Crenshaw became only the fourth person to hold the title of associate head coach in the history of the Lady

Techster program, joining Leon Barmore, Kim Mulkey-Robertson and Kurt Budke.

"It is great to come home," Crenshaw said. "I think anyone who knows me, knows I love the University of Alabama and the women's basketball program. To be able to come back and be a part of the program, it is just exciting and I am happy to be here."

Crenshaw's No. 1 responsibility was serving as Louisiana Tech's recruiting coordinator, handling both high school and junior colleges, with an emphasis in her home state of Mississippi as well as Alabama where she played collegiately.

Crenshaw's recruiting work paid dividends for Louisiana Tech as she was instrumental in signing high school standouts Shanavia Dowdell (2006 Miss Basketball in Alabama) and Tiawana Pringle (2006 Miss Basketball in Mississippi).

"By playing here and coaching at Troy and Tech, I was able to meet a lot of the players and coaches," Crenshaw said. "I feel pretty confident about going out and recruiting in the state of Alabama with coach Hudson and Evans. Players in this state want to come to Alabama."

In addition to recruiting, Crenshaw handled post player development, scouting reports, worked the Tech summer basketball camps and attended speaking engagements on behalf of the Lady Techster program. Crenshaw also helped lead Louisiana Tech to a pair of Western Athletic Conference regular season titles in her first two years and an appearance in the 2006 NCAA Tournament.

Prior to coming to Tech, Crenshaw spent three years at Troy University in Alabama where she served as that program's recruiting coordinator. In addition to the duty, she also handled post player development, served as academic coordinator and coordinated Troy State's summer camps.

During those three years, Crenshaw recruited and signed two Atlantic Sun Freshmen of the Year honorees in Laura Lee Holman (2004) and Amy Lewis (2005). Holman was joined by another one of Crenshaw's signees on the 2004 Atlantic Sun All-Freshmen team.

The Meridian, Miss., native lettered four years at the University of Alabama for Coach Rick Moody where during her playing days as a center for the Crimson Tide she scored 716 points, grabbed 555 rebounds and registered 103 blocked shots (third most in the program's history). She started for Moody her final two years while serving as team captain as a senior.

While at Alabama, Crenshaw was named to the Southeastern Conference's Good Works Team for two years and also received the Outstanding Community Service Award (2000-01).

She was named to the SEC's Academic Honor Roll (1998-2001), received a post graduate scholarship for community service from the SEC in 2001 and was recognized as one of the 10 most influential African Americans on campus by the Mentor Fellowship Society (2001).

Crenshaw earned her bachelor's degree in education from Alabama in 2002 and is a candidate for her master's degree in sport and fitness management.

Prior to her collegiate career, Crenshaw prepped at Meridian High School where she was named the 1997 Gatorade Player of the Year and a USA Today All-American while leading the school to a mark of 67-7 over her final two years. She also won three state titles in track and field during her high school days while also being selected as the school's Homecoming Queen in 1996.

Ty Evans enters his second year with the Alabama Crimson Tide and his sixth year as an assistant coach at the NCAA Division I level. Evans brings a wealth of knowledge to the Capstone as the former All-American has coached at both the professional and collegiate ranks.

Evans has made an immediate impact at every stop of his collegiate coaching career. Under his guidance, Evans has directly coached an all-conference player every season. Coaching the post players at every stop, Evans has been recognized as one of the top assistants in the nation.

For the second consecutive year, Evans has been invited to the prestigious Consortium, presented by Nike. The Consortium is a career development opportunity for the truly elite assistant women's basketball coaches.

Evans began his collegiate coaching career at Saint Louis University where in the 2001-02 season, Evans

"Ty is an outstanding coach. He understands the game of basketball from all aspects. Ty can recruit well and will also really help us out on the court."

was instrumental in the development of Angie Lewis and her All-Conference USA selection. The 6-1 forward led the Bilikens in scoring (13.8 ppg) and rebounding (8.1 rpg). Her 13.8 ppg ranked ninth and her 8.1 rpg ranked seventh in the conference.

After a year away from the university coaching overseas, Evans returned to the bench at Saint Louis where he again coached Lewis to another All-Conference selection. Lewis, who was not honored by the conference the year Evans was away from the program, reaped the rewards of Evans back on campus.

Lewis finished the 2003-04 season with 485 points, the second-highest single-season total in school history, and averaged 18 points and 7 rebounds. Lewis broke the record for field goals made in a season with 194. She scored 32 points against East Carolina, the second-highest single-game total in school history and was the first player at SLU to score at least 30 points in a game three times in one season. Lewis tallied 1,300 points in her career, the sixth-best total in school history, and her 659 rebounds ranks sixth on the rebounding chart.

While also at SLU, Evans was directly responsible for the recruitment of Mia Johnson. Johnson, a native of Minneapolis, Minn., was named to the Conference USA All-Freshman team after leading her team and ranking fifth in the league with a scoring average of 17.1 points per game. Johnson, who also had team highs of 87 assists and 50 steals while averaging 4.0 rebounds, hit 64 three-point baskets and set a school single-season record with 110 made free throws. Her 444 points were fifth-most in a single season in SLU history. Johnson transferred to Michigan State after Evans left the SLU bench.

Evans then took his coaching prowess to Georgetown University where he assumed every role including recruiting coordinator. During his two-year stint in Washington D.C., 5-10 forward Kieraah Marlow garnered two-straight All-BIG EAST selections.

As a sophomore, she led the Hoyas in scoring with 16.8 points. Marlow recorded double-figures on seven different occasions and tallied over 20 points in 11 games. Marlow was the team's high scorer 14 times and GU's high rebounder 11 times.

Marlow ranked fifth in the BIG EAST with her 16.8 points per game and 80 percent free-throw shooting. She also ranked ninth in the league with 8.2 rebounds per game while making 44 percent of her shots from the floor. The next season Marlow again garnered conference honors. Marlow led the Hoyas and ranked tenth in the league with 16.0 points per game. She became just the eighth GU player to surpass the 1,100-point and 600 rebound marks. Marlow tallied over 20 points 11 times in the season and notched a career-high with 30 points vs. Savannah State.

In his first season in Tuscaloosa Evans guided freshman Tierney Jenkins to SEC accolades. Jenkins was second among all freshmen in the league with 11.8 points per game. The newcomer led all SEC freshmen on the glass with 6.7 rebounds per game. Her 11.8 points per contest led all Tide scorers and her 6.7 rebounds was second on the squad.

Jenkins also added a presence on the defensive end by leading the team with 53 steals. Her six steals against Washington State in the Junkanoo Jam was tied for the second most steals in the conference in a single game. She was named to the Junkanoo Jam All-Tournament Team.

The 6-0 freshman had the largest single-game point outburst on the team. Jenkins scored a career-best 29 points against Hampton on Dec.20. For her effort, she was named the SEC Freshman of the Week after leading the Tide to three-straight wins. At the professional ranks, during the 2002-03 season, Evans served as head coach with the Ulkiken Eagles, based in Bergen, Norway, and competed in the Norway Professional Men's League. Evans guided the Eagles to the quarterfinals of the BLNO, the premiere basketball league in Norway.

Evans also spent time as a player in Europe, where he played in Norway and in Taiwan, including the 1997-98 season, where he won his team's MVP award in Norway. He was named to the All-Star Foreign Tour Team in 1996.

A 1995 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater, Evans earned a degree in secondary education while serving as a co-captain on the basketball team for two seasons. He was a first team All-American for the Warhawks in the 1994-95 campaign. Evans garnered two-straight all-conference honors and led the Warhawks to the NCAA tournament twice.

Prior to UW-W, Evans spent his freshman season at Richmond where the Spiders won the CAA Championship and went to the NCAA Tournament. A No. 15 seed, they defeated No. 2 Syracuse in first round (1991).

Former Alabama standout Stacey Franklin enters her first season as an assistant coach for the Crimson Tide. Franklin comes to the Capstone from Mississippi State where she spent 12 years on the Bulldogs' bench.

One of the longest tenured Division I assistant coaches in the country, Franklin completed her 12th season in Starkville this past season. Since arriving in 1996 to MSU, Franklin helped lead Mississippi State to eight post-season appearances, including four NCAA Tournament berths. During that time, the Lady Bulldogs posted seven winning seasons.

Franklin's primary areas of responsibility included player development, practice and game preparation and scouting. As a part of player development, Franklin coordinated student-athlete seminars on life skills in many areas, including financial planning, nutrition, professional etiquette, team building and media training.

"We are extremely excited to have Stacey join the staff. She has been in the SEC for 12 years now and will bring invaluable experience to our bench. I am proud to have two former Alabama players with such coaching credentials back on campus."

The History

1994 Final Four

It was a year of their lives they will never forget. Heartache signaled its beginning. Jubilation triggered the ending.

It was a year that taught fifteen young women that believing could not only cure all ills but could also scale any mountain. And it did.

The 1994 season found the University of Alabama women's basketball players mourning the sudden, unexpected death of their assistant coach and role model, Dottie Kelso in September. Some feared the loss was too profound. They talked of quitting basketball.

But as they pondered the impact of Kelso had made on their lives, they also remembered why. Kelso was a believer. She had an unshakable Christian faith. And, as their coach, she had an unshakable belief in her team. She'd told them her dream was to wear a championship ring. She also told them she believed they were the team that would win it for her.

On March 26, the same team that during the pre-season the Southeastern Conference's coaches voted would be, at best, near the middle of the pack in the conference, and a team that was seeded sixth in its region in the NCAA tournament, defeated Penn State for the Midwest Regional championship.

Winning that regional was no small feat. Along the way to Austin, Texas, Alabama knocked off Oregon State 96-84 in Tuscaloosa on March 13 and No. 13 Iowa at Iowa on March 20. And once in Austin, the "Sweet 16" was anything but sweet on paper. On March 24, Alabama's opponent was defending National Champion Texas Tech. To the disdain of famed Texas Governor Ann Richards—who sat on press row eating popcorn with her granddaughter and animatedly cheered her Lady Red Raiders on—the Tide crushed Texas Tech's dreams of a repeat with its 73-68 win. The win threw them into the Tide record books as the only Alabama team, men's or women's, to make it to the Elite Eight. The excitement was topped two days later when Alabama overpowered No. 2 Penn State 96-82.

With that win came a trip to the Final Four—and a ring to mark the occasion. The players wear it in Kelso's memory.

The Tide joined Louisiana Tech, North Carolina, and Purdue in that coveted field in Richmond, Va., on Easter weekend. In front of a sold-out Virginia Commonwealth University coliseum crowd, Alabama played Louisiana Tech in front of a live national CBS audience. Alas, the Tide's dreams would play out in that game that will perhaps best be remembered for a fluke halftime accident. Alabama's All-American, Niesa Johnson, cut her hand on a faucet at halftime and missed the first five minutes of the second half while she had the hand stitched. In a tight game throughout, Louisiana Tech went on to win and advance to play for the championship, defeating Alabama 69-66.

Alabama center Yolanda Watkins, who led the team in rebounding in 1993-94 with 320 boards, a single-season best.

When it was all over, Alabama finished 26-7. Its 1994 NCAA tournament appearance was its third consecutive trip. It emerged from the tournament with the Midwest Regional MVP, Betsy Harris. Harris also made the Final Four's all-tournament team, compliments of her 21 points against Louisiana Tech. She was joined on the Midwest Regional all-tournament squad by Johnson and Yolanda Watkins.

Its biggest win, and the barometer of things to come, came on December 11 at home in Tuscaloosa. After five previous attempts, all failures over the years of trying to beat the Lady Techsters, Alabama knocked off then No. 5 Louisiana Tech in Tuscaloosa in a resounding 99-77 win. The win rocketed Alabama into the Top 10 where it would hover until mid-January.

Alabama's other regular season successes included opening its year with the Iowa State Cyclone Classic championship. It also won its own Shoney's Inn Classic and set a women's school record in its 76-point win (119-43) at Troy State in January.

For the second consecutive year, the SEC tournament semi-finals found Alabama among the four teams remaining. Niesa Johnson scored 31 points in the quarterfinal to lead the Tide to an 86-84 overtime win against Ole Miss. It found itself face up against arguably the nation's most solid team, top to bottom, then 25-1 Tennessee in the semifinal. Yolanda Watkins' 15 points and 11 rebounds were impressive but weren't enough as Alabama bowed out 72-56. Tennessee went on to claim both the SEC regular season and tournament titles and finish the year 31-2.

Rick Moody's Tide led the SEC in scoring (all games) and in rebounding (SEC games) in 1994 and produced the school's first female basketball Kodak All-Americana, Niesa Johnson. Johnson, now a senior, was joined by Yolanda Watkins, now a junior, as an All-SEC selection, and Harris was voted second team All-SEC.

It was the most productive season in all of Alabama basketball. And, it was a year in their lives that Rick Moody and his team will dream back upon for many years to come.

ONE FOR THE AGES...

Alabama 121, Duke 120

March 18, 1995
Coleman Coliseum

It was a game that nobody who witnessed would ever forget. If the term had been in the American lexicon on March 18, 1995, the NCAA Tournament East Regional game between Alabama and Duke would most certainly have been one of the most memorable "Instant Classics" in history.

When the dust settled in Coleman Coliseum after a four-overtime thriller that saw the Crimson Tide advance over the scrappy Blue Devils, one thing was certain: women's college basketball had never been more exciting.

"For once, I'm speechless," Tide head coach Rick Moody said. "I don't know what to say. I've never been involved in a game like this, but that's probably because there has never been a game like this before."

And how exciting it was. The teams set at least eight NCAA records on that memorable night, including most overtimes, most points, most points in overtime, most points by a losing team, most three-pointers attempted (70) and most three-pointers attempted by one team (Alabama, 52).

In fact the only number that seemed to outpace the records falling by the wayside were points. Alabama won the game 121-120, a score that indicated the effectiveness of Moody's explosive offensive style of play and attacking full-court defense.

The contest was what post-season basketball is all about. Two teams at the top of their game, executing their respective offenses to perfection while playing gritty defense on the other end of the floor.

Each team also had its share of heroic individual performances. Duke's Alison Day scored 37 points and guard Kira Orr poured in 30. The Tide countered with an unbelievable performance by all-time great center Yolanda Watkins, who scored 38. All-American Niesa Johnson registered a triple-double, scoring 28 points to go with 14 assists and 12 rebounds. The amazing Johnson played a mind-boggling 28 minutes and

39 seconds with four fouls.

But for all of the gaudy offensive numbers being thrown about the Coliseum floor that night, it was a defensive stop with 19 seconds to go in regulation that might have saved the day for the Tide. With Duke leading, 81-78, with the ball, Alabama's Marlene Stevenson stepped in front of a driving Orr and drew a charge, taking away an Orr basket and giving Alabama one last shot.

Johnson, the All-American guard, responded, nailing perhaps the most important shot of her career on the ensuing possession. She drained a 23-foot three-pointer with just 1.6 seconds remaining to force the first overtime.

"When I shot it, I thought it went to the left," Johnson said. "I'm just glad it grabbed the rim."

Her supply of heroics hadn't run out yet though. She sank two free throws with 2.2 seconds left in the first overtime to tie the score and nailed a jumper with 49 seconds to play in the third overtime that forced the deciding frame.

After the Tide jumped out to a seven-point lead in the fourth overtime session, Johnson gave her team a four-point lead with two key free throws with eight seconds to play. Those charity shots came in handy after Day hit her third trey of the game to pull the Blue Devils within one point with 10 seconds to play.

Alabama was able to run out the clock, though, sealing the game for the Tide.

And even though the clock finally hit zeroes for the final time, the memories of that special night lingered on for all involved. For the 20 exhausted players and their coaches, it was 60 minutes of the most intense, most pressure-packed and most exciting basketball they would ever play.

"I didn't really think about the way I was feeling physically," Watkins said. "I just thought about the plays. I told myself I had to stay in the game."

Unfortunately for the Tide, the season ended in the next round when Alabama ran into the 1995 UConn team that steamrolled its way to the NCAA Championship with an undefeated record and a roster that boasted Jen Rizzotti, Nykesha Sales and Rebecca Lobo.

There are times in sports when everything falls into place and a simple game played between two lines on a hardwood floor can transfix everyone involved, if only for a few hours. Those moments are what athletic competition is all about. For the Crimson Tide women's basketball program, that night was March 18, 1995.

Perhaps Moody summed it up best.

"It was simply the most exciting basketball game I have ever seen."

Crimson Tide NCAA Tournament Teams

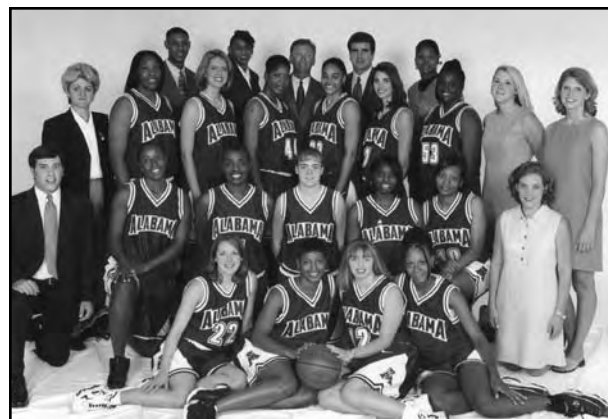

1998-99 • Second Round

Overall Record: 20-11

Dominique Canty, the most prolific scorer in school history, carried the Tide to its eighth straight NCAA Tournament appearance and its eighth 20-win season in 1998-99. Canty, who finished her career as the leading scorer in program history, poured in 19.7 per game, one of only two Tide players to score in double figures for the season.

Her heroics helped carry the Tide to a great start, as Alabama jumped out of the gates winning seven straight. League play was a bit more difficult, as the team faced seven ranked opponents in the SEC en route to a 7-7 finish.

UA won six of its last seven heading into the postseason, with its only loss coming to No. 2 Tennessee in the SEC Tournament. The Tide beat Grambling, 80-68, to open the NCAA Tournament and moved on to face North Carolina in the second round. The Tar Heels were too much and sent the Tide home with a 70-56 defeat on North Carolina's home floor.

1997-98 • Sweet 16

Overall Record: 24-10

Despite losing Yolanda Watkins and Shalonda Enis to graduation, Rick Moody had Dominique Canty, a scoring machine, back for the 1997-98 campaign with hopes of making another postseason run.

In the regular season, the Tide had to fight hard to earn its 22 wins. Alabama played in three overtime games, losing all of them, to enter the SEC season with four losses. The team learned its lessons, however, and got hot during the conference season, ripping off a five-game win streak in January and a six-game stretch in February to earn a 10-4 mark in the SEC, tying the mark for most league wins set by the 1996-97 Tide team.

Alabama earned wins over five ranked teams, including one over Auburn and two over highly-rated Florida. The Tide forced 607 turnovers, an average of nearly 18 a game. The defensive effort helped make up for a slower scoring attack that saw the team average 76.4 points, slightly off the torrid pace set by some of Moody's earlier teams.

The Tide beat UNC-Greensboro handily in the first round and outlasted No. 25 UCLA in the second round, both in Tuscaloosa. Perennial rival Louisiana Tech once again dashed the Alabama hopes, however, as the fourth-ranked Lady Monarchs beat Alabama, 71-57, in Lubbock, Texas, to end the season.

Crimson Tide NCAA Tournament Teams

1996-97 • Sweet 16

Overall Record: 25-7

With Shalonda Enis and Dominique Canty to lead the way, along with Yolanda Watkins, who rejoined the Tide after missing the 1995-96 season with a knee injury, the 1996-97 team was poised for another postseason run.

After losing two early games to Stanford and North Carolina State, teams the Tide had faced in the 1996 NCAA Tournament, Alabama ran off 14 straight, setting a school record for consecutive wins in a single season. The Tide went 8-5 against ranked teams during the season, beating No. 4 Georgia in late January.

Enis led the team in scoring, with 17 points per game, and on the boards, with an 8.9 rebound per game average. Canty scored 16.1 points per game, while gritty point guard Brittney Ezell dished 143 assists. The Tide beat St. Francis and St. Joseph's in rounds one and two before falling to No. 15 Notre Dame in the Sweet Sixteen round.

1995-96 • Sweet 16

Overall Record: 24-8

For the first time in awhile, expectations were low for the 1995-96 Alabama team. Three starters had graduated and Yolanda Watkins was out for the year after a season-ending knee injury. The only returner was Brittney Ezell, a sophomore, leading critics to pick the Tide eighth in the SEC in the preseason. The unknowns in the Tide lineup, however, turned out to be gems.

Shalonda Enis and Dominique Canty burst on to the SEC scene to lead the Tide to a third place finish in the league and an SEC Championship appearance against Tennessee. Enis' offensive heroics were nothing short of amazing. She averaged 23.9 points and 9.5 rebounds per game, more than filling the shoes of Watkins. Canty, who would go on to become the school's all-time leading scorer, earned SEC Tournament MVP honors despite having played on the losing team, an indication of things to come for the freshman from Chicago.

Behind Canty, who scored 31 points, the Tide blew past Appalachian State, 95-66 and beat North Carolina State by 20 to set up a matchup with Stanford in the Regionals. The Cardinal was too much, unfortunately, and sent UA home with a two-point win in Seattle. The 1995-96 team set a school record at the time by facing 13 ranked teams, winning six, including a sweep of instate rival Auburn.

Crimson Tide NCAA Tournament Teams

1994-95 • Sweet 16

Overall Record: 22-9

The 1994-95 team faced the unenviable task of following up on the program's first Final Four appearance and all of the expectations that go along with those lofty standards. The Tide roster still had star power, with Niesa Johnson and Yolanda Watkins returning, but new players would have to step up for Rick Moody and his team.

Alabama got off to the right start, opening with nine-straight wins, including victories over Arkansas and Notre Dame. The Tide went 8-5 in the SEC to finish third, one place higher than the 1993-94 Final Four team had finished the previous year. UA went in to the NCAA Tournament red-hot, having been winners of five of its last six, with the only loss coming to No. 2 Tennessee in the SEC Tournament.

Duke was the opponent in the NCAA Second round game on March 18, 1995, in Coleman Coliseum on a night that will never be forgotten. The teams finished regulation tied at 81 apiece and went on for three more overtime frames before UA finally pulled away in overtime number four, 121-120. The game set several NCAA Tournament records that still stand, including most points and most periods. Alabama's run ended five days later with a loss to UConn, a team that went on to win the 1995 NCAA Tournament with an undefeated record behind Jen Rizzotti, Nykesha Sales and Rebecca Lobo.

Overall Record: 26-7

The Alabama roster was loaded again for head coach Rick Moody heading into the 1993-94 season, with superstars Niesa Johnson and Yolanda Watkins returning along with deadeye shooter Betsy Harris. The team was determined to make up for the gut-wrenching loss to North Carolina in the NCAA Tournament, and make up for it they did.

Despite the emotional loss of with the sudden death of assistant Dottie Kelso prior to the season, UA jumped out of the gates, winning its first eight and 11 of its first 12. Alabama was 12-1 on its home floor and finished with a 7-4 mark in the SEC.

Oregon State was the first Alabama victim at home in the NCAA Tournament. Alabama went to No. 13 Iowa and beat the Hawkeyes by six in Iowa City to earn a trip to the Sweet Sixteen in Austin, Texas. Facing them was defending national champion Texas Tech, who was dispatched by a five-point margin to advance the Tide to the Elite Eight for the first time in school history. Two days later, UA overpowered No. 2 Penn State to earn a trip to the Final Four in Richmond, Va.

Alabama squared off with Louisiana Tech in the national semifinal, a team the Tide had beaten by 22 in December. The Lady Monarchs were too much, though, handing Alabama a three-point loss to end the historic season.

1992-93 • Second Round

Overall Record: 22-9

Hopes were high for the 1992-93 team that returned superstar Niesa Johnson and several other key players off of the 1991-92 NCAA Tournament team. Unfortunately, the season did not begin as well as had been hoped.

The Tide stumbled to a 3-3 start while facing a brutal schedule that included four of eight games against NCAA Tournament teams from the previous year. The turning point came in January, though, when the Tide put together a five-game win streak that included the program's first ever in Baton Rouge over LSU.

Johnson proved her 1991-92 season was no fluke, as she led the SEC in assists and steals while scoring 16.1 points. Highly touted freshman Yolanda Watkins made an auspicious debut, averaging 14.6 points and a team-high 8.6 rebounds per game.

Head coach Rick Moody's offense was as explosive as ever, as his team led the nation in three-pointers made per game (7.6) and finished second in the NCAA in scoring, averaging 86.7 points per outing. The Tide surpassed the century mark eight times, including a 122-point outburst against Oral Roberts, setting a single-game record that still stands.

Alabama beat Georgia Southern handily in the opening round, but fell in a heartbreaking overtime game, 74-73, in Chapel Hill.

1991-92 • Second Round

Overall Record: 23-7

When Rick Moody took the reins in Tuscaloosa prior to the 1989-90 season, he brought a high-flying offensive attack and an attacking full-court style of play that forced opponents to play all 94 feet of the floor. No team epitomized that style of play like the 1991-92 team, the first of Moody's eight NCAA Tournament squads during his tenure with the Tide.

Led by superstars Linda Burgess and Niesa Johnson, who would later become Alabama's first All-American first-team honoree, the 1991-92 squad scorched the nets throughout the year. The team averaged 87.9 points per game, a single-season record that still stands. The Tide scored 100 points a record 10 times, including a 105-point effort in a victory over Georgia. Alabama went 10-1 at home and 10-4 on the road during the regular season to finish third in the SEC.

Burgess averaged 20.3 points per game, while Johnson poured in 16.3 per outing. The duo also led the Tide on the boards, with Burgess averaging 8.2 rebounds per game and Johnson tallying 7.1. Johnson earned National Freshman of the Year accolades and Burgess earned All-SEC and honorable mention All-American honors.

The Tide ran past Tennessee Tech in the first NCAA Tournament game at home in school history, but didn't have enough to outscore Western Kentucky who went on to earn runner-up honors after losing to Stanford in the 1992 NCAA Championship game.

Crimson Tide NCAA Tournament Teams

1987-88 • Second Round

Overall Record: 18-10

Despite 20 wins in 1985-86 and 19 over the 1986-87 campaign, the Crimson Tide found themselves on the outside looking in when the NCAA Tournament field was announced. However, after an 17-10 regular season under third-year head coach Lois Myers, Alabama found itself among the 40-team bracket for the second time in school history in 1987-88.

The team earned the bid on the strength of two wins over ranked teams, including an upset of No. 10 Ole Miss, Alabama's first victory over the Rebels in nearly four years. The Tide finished just 5-4 in the SEC, but the league was loaded and included four teams, Tennessee, Georgia, Auburn and Ole Miss, that spent time in the nation's top 10.

Myers directed a balanced offensive attack in 1987-88, with four players averaging in double figures in scoring and no individual who scored more than 14.5 points per game. In the first year of the three-point line in intercollegiate basketball, sharp-shooting guards Tracey Rutledge and Shelly Pyles led the way. Laura Heard led the team on the boards, while Laura Vaughn averaged 13 points and 6.1 rebounds on the year.

Unfortunately the postseason bid was short-lived, as the Tide bowed out to South Carolina in Columbia, 77-63 to end the season.

1983-84 • Second Round

Overall Record: 23-9

Heading into the 1983-84 campaign, the Crimson Tide was looking for its breakthrough season. The program, officially recognized for the first time for the 1974-75 season, had seen its share of success. Twenty-win years in 1977-78 and 1980-81 were already in the books, but the Tide was looking for its first NCAA Tournament bid under third-year head coach Ken Weeks.

The 1983-84 squad delivered on that wish, racking up 23 wins, including victories over six ranked teams during the regular season. Alabama opened up 10-1 to begin the year and won 15 of its first 17 before a four-game slide in mid-January. The Tide finished strong, though, winning eight of the final 11, including an upset over No. 10 Tennessee in the SEC Tournament. Alabama won its first-ever NCAA Tournament game, on the road against Central Michigan, before losing the rematch with the Lady Vols in Knoxville on March 23 to end the historic season.

Cassandra Crumpton, who became the school's first All-American in 1982-83, was the team leader, averaging 17.4 points per game. Carol Smith, one of the best post players in school history, averaged 16.2 points and 7.3 rebounds per game, while forward Justina Smith scored 12.2 points per outing. The team was an efficient offensive unit that converted 47.8 percent of its field goal attempts, the third best percentage for any team in Alabama history.

Crimson Tide WNIT Teams

2001-02 • Quarterfinals

Overall Record: 19-12

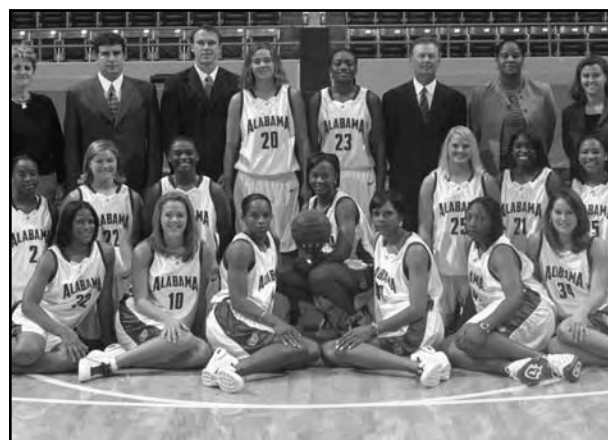

In the Tide's most recent post-season appearance, head coach Rick Moody led his team to a post-season tournament for the 11th consecutive year. It was Alabama's fourth WNIT appearance in school history and the third in as many seasons.

Moody's team won three straight to open the season and went on another six-game win streak in December prior to SEC play opened at Kentucky. A brutal stretch came in January, when UA went up against four-straight ranked opponents in the league, including No. 7 Vanderbilt and second-ranked Tennessee in consecutive outings.

The Tide did get a win over a ranked opponent later in the year, handing No. 25 Mississippi State a loss in Tuscaloosa on Feb. 7. Alabama finished with a 7-7 record in the league but had to face 24th-rated Georgia in the SEC Tournament and lost to the Bulldogs by four.

In the WNIT, Alabama beat Missouri in the opening round in Columbia and dominated Eastern Kentucky, 99-77, in the second round. Michigan State was too much for the Tide, though, in the quarterfinals and ended the season with a 79-61 loss in East Lansing.

Senior Shondra Johnson capped her career by leading the team in scoring and fellow senior LaNisha Cartwell led the team on the boards for the second straight year. The 2001-02 unit led the SEC in three-point shooting percentage, knocking down 40.1 percent as a team.

2000-01 • Second Round

Overall Record: 19-12

The Crimson Tide roster was full of talent, including All-American Shondra Johnson and fellow 1,000-point scorers LaNisha Cartwell and Monique Bivins, but much of it was young for the 2000-01 squad. Alabama jumped out of the gates, winning its first nine before the streak was ended by Oklahoma State in the Bahamas.

Alabama won two regular-season tournament titles, including the UIC Thanksgiving Tournament in Chicago and the St. Peter's Holiday Classic in New Jersey.

But the league was tough again and the young Tide team faced eight ranked opponents, including top-ranked Tennessee and No. 4 Georgia. Alabama pulled upsets over No. 25 Auburn and No. 21 Mississippi State, but ended the season with a 5-9 mark in the conference.

The Tide beat Auburn in the first round of the SEC Tournament but fell to No. 1 Tennessee, setting up the WNIT bid. Alabama beat Memphis at home but lost to an inspired UAB team in the second round in Birmingham.

Johnson recovered from her shoulder injury in the previous season and earned the second of three consecutive second team All-SEC honors while scoring 13.4 points per game. Cartwell averaged a career-high 6.1 rebounds per game and Bivins showed some flashes of her future abilities and scored 6.1 points per outing.

Crimson Tide WNIT Teams

1999-2000 • First Round

Overall Record: 15-14

Alabama returned just two starters from the 1998-99 team that advanced to the second round of the NCAA Tournament and had to replace All-American Dominique Canty while facing seven ranked teams throughout the year.

The result was the Tide missing out on an NCAA bid for the first time since the 1990-91 season and snapping an eight-year NCAA Tournament streak that saw the included the 1993-94 Final Four team.

Despite a 10-2 start, UA struggled in the SEC, going 5-9 and earning an eighth-place finish, its lowest since that 1990-91 season. Sophomore Shondra Johnson became the team's go-to player, leading the team in scoring with a 12.7 points per game average. Teammate Taquilla Allen chipped in with 12.5 per game and Joni Crenshaw led the Tide on the boards, collecting 5.6 per game.

Kentucky ended the Tide's SEC Tournament in the first round, handing Alabama a 67-63 defeat in Chattanooga. The Tide returned to that city just two weeks later to face the Lady Mocs on March 16, where the home team eked out a two-point victory.

It was Alabama's first appearance in the WNIT since the early days of the program. The Tide's first WNIT team came back in 1976-77. In between, Alabama racked up 10 NCAA Tournament teams, one Final Four participant and four Sweet 16 teams.

1976-77 • Qualifiers

Overall Record: 13-15

Records are scanty from the early days of Crimson Tide women's basketball, but the 1976-77 team set precedent by becoming the first Alabama unit to advance to post-season play.

The Tide was under .500 for the season under head coach Stephanie Schleuder, but advanced to the WNIT in the post-season to face four teams in Amarillo, Texas.

Not surprisingly, they are the only team in program history to play in the post-season despite holding a losing record.

Alabama lost all four games after facing Valdosta State, Wayland Baptist, Belmont and Indiana State. Powerhouse Delta State had ended the Tide's tournament run in the old AIAW Tournament with a convincing 81-47 defeat in Cleveland, Miss.

First names are not in the archives, but Roy led the team in scoring, averaging 14.0 points per game. Hudgins edged out her teammate Murray in the rebounding category, beating her by a mere decimal point. Hudgins averaged 8.22 boards per game while Murray was right on her heels with an 8.21 average.

Cassandra Crumpton

• 1982-84 •

Third Team All-American
Two-Time All-SEC

• Orrville, Ala. •

Cassandra Crumpton, a product of Alabama, was a key member of the Tide's first NCAA Tournament team and was the first of a long line of talented guards to compete at the Capstone.

The Orrville native came to Tuscaloosa in 1982 after a junior college career at Clarendon (Texas) Junior College, where she was an NJCAA All-American in 1982 after ranking second in the nation in scoring. She immediately made an impact on the Tide program.

Teaming with fellow All-SEC performers Carol Smith and Terri Hillard, Crumpton helped lead Alabama to 39 wins in her career and its first-ever NCAA Tournament bid in 1983-84. During that record-setting season, Crumpton helped the Tide earn wins over six ranked opponents, including a victory over No. 10 Tennessee in the SEC Tournament.

Crumpton led the team in scoring in each of her seasons in a Tide uniform, averaging 19.1 points and 7.3 rebounds as a junior in 1982-83. Following that season, she was named third team All-American, the first player in school history to earn All-American honors of any kind. She shot 85.7 percent from the free throw line as a junior to lead the SEC in free-throw shooting percentage. The total is still fifth-best in school history.

As a senior, she scored 17.4 points and was named the 1984 SEC Tournament MVP after leading the Tide to runner-up honors at the event. She was named All-SEC both years and was invited to participate in the 1984 Olympic Trials.

Following her collegiate career, Crumpton played four years in Spain, two in Italy and one season in Turkey. She began her pro career with Caixa Girona in Getafe, Spain and was the leading scorer in the 1993 Spanish League All-Star game. She joined the New York Liberty of the WNBA in 1997 after signing as a free agent.

Crumpton also competed in the Women's Basketball League in the mid 80's, playing on the WBL Champion Dallas Diamonds following her college career.

She served as an assistant coach at the University of Houston and at her alma mater, serving on Rick Moody's staff from 1997-2004.

Linda Burgess

• 1990-92 •

Third Team All-American
First-Team All-SEC

• Greenville, Texas •

Linda Burgess was one of the first stars to play for head coach Rick Moody in the early 1990's. Behind her, and fellow All-American Niesa Johnson, Alabama established itself as a national power.

Burgess, a native of Madison, Ala., came to the Capstone after a two-year stint at Calhoun Community College in Decatur to become a force in the post for Moody's high-scoring Alabama teams.

In 1991-92, Burgess helped lead a surprising Tide unit to a 23-7 record and just the third NCAA Tournament bid in school history. She led Alabama in scoring in each of the two seasons she played in Tuscaloosa. In her senior season of 1991-92, Burgess poured in 20.3 points per game, becoming one of only five players in school history to average more than 20 points per contest for an entire season. Her 37-point outburst against Loyola-Chicago on Dec. 2, 1991 is the second-highest single game scoring performance in the Tide record book.

Burgess finished her career with an 18.1 per game scoring average, tying for third on the Bama career charts. She scored 1,069 points as a member of the Tide, becoming one of only 20 Alabama players to eclipse the 1,000-point barrier for a career.

In addition to her scoring abilities, Burgess was also a fierce rebounder. She led the Tide on the boards in her two seasons, averaging 8.1 rebounds per game over her career, the fifth-highest rebounding average in school history.

Following her senior season, Burgess was named third team All-American by the Women's Basketball News Service, becoming the second Tide player to earn All-American honors of any kind. A two time All-SEC performer, Burgess was also a two-time SEC Player of the Week honoree.

Burgess played professionally overseas before making her way back to the United States to compete in the WNBA. She spent time with the Sacramento Monarchs and the Los Angeles Sparks in her WNBA career.

Niesa Johnson

• 1991-95 •

Two-Time All-American
Two-Time All-SEC

• Clinton, Miss. •

Niesa Johnson, a dynamic athletic guard from Clinton, Miss., was one of the driving forces behind the emergence of the Tide women's basketball program as a national power under head coach Rick Moody.

The lightning-quick Johnson spearheaded an Alabama full-court attack that generated amazing offensive numbers. In her freshman season, the Johnson-led Tide averaged 87.9 points per game, a record that still stands in the Alabama annals. The 1991-92 season, Johnson's first in an Alabama uniform, was a surprise to all. Behind the freshman Johnson, who averaged 16.3 points per game, the Tide stormed to a 23-7 mark and an NCAA Regional appearance. Johnson earned the National Freshman of the Year award for her performance during the season, the only Tide player to have earned the honor.

During Johnson's career at the Capstone, the Tide went a combined 93-32 (.744), went to four straight NCAA Tournaments and advanced to the school's first and only Final Four in 1993-94. She averaged 21.1 points per game as a senior in 1994-95, the third-highest single season scoring average in Alabama history.

Johnson finished her career as just the second Tide player to score 2,000 points, ending with 2,134 points, the highest career total for any Alabama women's player at the time. She remains as the school's all-time assists leader with 800 in her career and her 7.3 assists per game average as a sophomore is the best total in Alabama history.

The 5-9 guard is also number one on the all-time steals chart with 350 in her career. Her 95 steals as a sophomore and 93 as a junior rank one and two in the all-time single season steal records.

After the Tide's Final Four run in 1994, Johnson became the first Alabama women's player to earn first team All-American honors, an achievement she repeated the following season. A three-time first team All-SEC selection, Johnson was a finalist for the Naismith Award in 1994 and 1995.

Following her career at Alabama, Johnson went on to represent the United States in international competition. She was invited to the 1996 Olympic team tryouts, the 1998 World Championship auditions, was a two-time USA Basketball Women's National Junior team member and was selected to three straight USA Basketball Select tryouts.

Johnson played in the American Basketball League (ABL) and the WNBA, including stints with the Charlotte Sting and the Seattle Reign of the ABL.

Dominique Canty

• 1991-95 •

Two-Time All-American
Three-Time All-SEC

• Chicago, Ill. •

Dominique Canty, a 5-10 product of Chicago, was, statistically speaking, perhaps the greatest player to ever wear an Alabama uniform. The versatile guard did it all for the Tide, putting up some of the most gaudy numbers in program history during her highly successful career in Tuscaloosa.

Canty was the sparkplug for some of the most successful seasons in school history. She led the Tide to an NCAA bid in each of her four seasons, including three trips to the Sweet Sixteen. Alabama finished second in the SEC in her sophomore season and tied for runner-up honors the next year, marking the highest finishes in the league in school history.

The numbers Canty was able to produce over her career are simply astounding. She scored 2,294 points over four seasons, the highest career total for any basketball player, male or female, in school history. She averaged 21.5 points as a junior in 1997-98, the second-highest single season scoring average in school history. Her 18.1 points per game career average ties for third in women's basketball history at Alabama.

Canty was also a force on the boards for the Tide. She grabbed 909 during her career, ranking third on the career list behind centers Yolanda Watkins and Carol Smith. She led the team in rebounding in her junior year and averaged 7.2 rebounds per game over her career, tying for the fifth-best career average in program history.

She is the only player in school history to rank in the top five in the career charts for points, rebounds, steals and assists.

Ironically, Canty scored most of her points from closer to the basket. She made a living at the foul line, having attempted (875) and made (628) more free throws than any player in school history.

A two-time All-American and, Canty was a Naismith Award Finalist in her junior and senior seasons and earned All-SEC honors three times, becoming the only Tide player to earn the honor in three seasons.

Following her graduation from the Capstone, Canty went on to a decorated professional career that is still active. She was drafted by the Detroit Shock of the WNBA in 1999, and was the runner-up for Rookie of the Year honors before being traded to the Houston Comets in 2003. She has averaged 6.6 points and 2.9 rebounds over her WNBA career.

Shalonda Enis

• 1995-96 •

Two-Time All-American
First-Time All-SEC

• Greenville, Texas •

Despite playing just two years with the Tide, Shalonda Enis managed to become one of the all-time greats after two of the most productive seasons in school history.

Enis, a native of Greenville, Texas, came to Tuscaloosa after a brilliant junior college career. She earned Women's Basketball Coaches Association Junior College Player of the Year honors after her sophomore season at Trinity Valley Junior College in Texas prior to transferring to Alabama.

Teaming with fellow all-time great Dominique Canty, the Tide had a pair of extremely successful seasons with Enis in the lineup. Enis helped Alabama to a 49-15 mark over her two seasons and played on two Sweet Sixteen teams in her brief career. Her 32 points against Appalachian State in her first NCAA Tournament game is the second-highest point total for any UA player in an NCAA game.

One of the most proficient scorers in school history, Enis scored 1,309 points, seventh-best at Alabama, in just 64 games with the Tide and finished with a 20.5 per game scoring average, the highest in the UA record book. As a junior in 1995-96, Enis poured in an incredible 23.9 per game average, a number that still stands as the best single season total in school annals.

The 6-1 Enis was also a great rebounder, collecting 589 boards in two seasons to rank tenth in the career charts. She led the team in rebounds in each of her seasons with the Tide, averaging 9.5 rebounds per game in 1995-96 and is the last UA player to average more than nine boards per game in a single season.

She was a first team All-American selection in both of her seasons with the Tide, while earning All-SEC honors as a junior.

Enis went on to a successful professional career following her collegiate playing experience. She was named Rookie of the Year in the American Basketball League (ABL) and was the MVP of the ABL All-Star game in while playing for the Seattle Reign in 1997-98 before the disbanding of the league.

She was picked up by the Washington Mystic in the 1999 WNBA draft and went to the Charlotte Sting the following season. She played for the Sting for four years and finished her WNBA career after the 2003 season.

Johnson's award was based on courage, said the network, as she cut her hand on a sink in the dressing room at halftime and was forced to miss the first few minutes of the second half while doctors stitched the wound closed. She raced back on the floor and played the final 15 minutes of the second half with those eight stitches in her shooting hand.

SEC ACCOMPLISHMENTS

With eight national championships, ten runner-up finishes, a nation-leading 34 Final Four appearances and 94 first-team All-America honors, the SOUTH-EASTERN CONFERENCE stands firmly as the nation's premier intercollegiate women's basketball conference.

SEC By The Numbers

- The SEC has posted impressive non-conference records in the last decade. The SEC compiled a 156-46 (.723) non-conference record during the 2007-08 season.

- Since the 1990 season, the SEC has compiled a 2613-746 (.778) record against other conferences. The league has recorded 150+ wins during eight seasons and has never recorded a non-conference winning percentage below .723.

- SEC teams have earned appearances in 25 of 27 NCAA Final Fours, an accomplishment unmatched by any other league.

- Overall, SEC squads have filled 34 of the 108 Final Four berths, including having two Final Four teams in 1988 (Auburn, Tennessee), 1989 (Auburn, Tennessee), 1995 (Georgia, Tennessee), 1996 (Georgia, Tennessee), 1998 (Arkansas, Tennessee), 2004 (LSU, Tennessee), 2005 (LSU, Tennessee), 2007 (LSU, Tennessee) and 2008 (LSU, Tennessee).

- SEC teams have made 18 appearances in a nation-high 16 NCAA Championship games, winning eight NCAA Championships (Tennessee: 1987, 1989, 1991, 1996, 1997, 1998, 2007 and 2008).

- The league also had the distinction of providing both national finalists twice in its history in 1996 (Tennessee 83, Georgia 65) and in 1989 (Tennessee 76, Auburn 60).

- SEC teams have won 312 NCAA Tournament games against 155 losses (.668) for an average of 11.6 NCAA wins per year.

- In addition, all 12 current members have appeared in the NCAA Tournament.

- The SEC has paced the pack in NCAA tournament bids 21 times in its 27-year history.

- The SEC was the first league to ever have eight teams invited to the NCAA Tournament, doing so in 1999 and 2002.

- The SEC was also the first league to ever have seven teams invited to the NCAA Tournament and earned this honor a leading seven times (1986, 1991, 1995, 1996, 1997, 2003, 2004).

- The SEC is one of a handful of leagues to have won three national tournament titles with eight NCAA, two WNIT and three NWIT. Along with the eight NCAA championships won by Tennessee, Arkansas (1999) and Auburn (2003) captured the current Women's NIT titles. But the first-ever SEC national title belongs to Georgia, winners of the 1981 NWIT which predates the current NCAA tournament. LSU (1985) and Kentucky (1990) each won NWIT titles. Both Arkansas (1987) and South Carolina (1979) won the WNIT as members of their previous conferences.

- In 2003, Auburn won the WNIT title with wins over South Alabama, Florida State, Richmond, Creighton and Baylor. In 1999, the Arkansas Lady Razorbacks defeated Wisconsin 76-64 to claim the SEC's first WNIT championship.

- In 1981, Georgia defeated Pittsburg, California and Arizona State (in OT) to capture the NWIT Championship, the first-ever national championship of any kind for the SEC in women's basketball.

Individual Honors

- The SEC has had 55 student-athletes named as a First-Team All-America selection. Those 55 have been named a total of 82 times since the 1982-83 season (first year of SEC sponsorship).

- All-Americans were first named in women's basketball in 1975. Since that time, league schools have had 63 players named first-team a total of 94 times.

- The league has had six Honda Sports Awards winners in Katrina McClain, Georgia (1987); Bridgette Gordon, Tennessee (1989); Chamique Holdsclaw, Tennessee (1997 and 1998); and Candace Parker, Tennessee (2007 and 2008).

- Tennessee's Chamique Holdsclaw was named the winner of the Honda-Broderick Cup, as the Collegiate Woman Athlete of the Year, in 1998.

- Seven Naismith Player of the Year winners have come from the SEC. They include Saudia Roundtree, Georgia (1996), Chamique Holdsclaw, Tennessee (1998 and 1999), Tamika Catchings, Tennessee (2000), Seimone Augustus, LSU (2005 and 2006) and Candace Parker, Tennessee (2008).

- SEC teams have provided 130 All-Region performers, including 28 Most Outstanding Players.

- Over the past 27-years, 38 Final Four All-Tournament Team members have come from SEC schools.

- In 1996, the entire all-tournament team was made up of SEC players.

- Nine NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship winners and 28 Academic All-Americans hail from the SEC.

SEC In The Pros

- The Southeastern Conference has more players on 2008 opening day WNBA players as any other league. All told, 39 former SEC stars made WNBA rosters. The Big East was second with 28 players, followed by the ACC with 18, the Big 12 and Big Ten with 16 and the PAC 10 with 12.

- In this year's WNBA draft, a total of 10 SEC women's basketball players were taken, including the league's fifth overall #1 pick.

- Since the inaugural WNBA draft in 1997, the SEC has had 99 former players drafted for the professional league.

Dominance in the Polls

- Since the SEC began to sponsor women's basketball in 1982, it has failed only twice to place at least four members in each of the final polls (the USA Today / ESPN poll began in 1986).

- Last season, the SEC had three in the final AP poll and four in the final coaches poll.

- In terms of rankings, the SEC has the richest history of any conference in the nation, boasting more poll appearances than any other.

- Since the 1982 season, SEC teams have been ranked 477 consecutive weeks in the AP Poll.

- League teams have been ranked 2,442 times, including 1,228 Top 10 appearances and 707 Top 5 appearances.

- SEC teams can also boost of 136 No. 1 rankings in the AP Poll.

- The league has had the top three teams in the AP Poll twice. In week three in 2005 and in week eight in 1989.

- A nation-leading eight SEC teams were ranked at one point in the AP and CNN/USA Today Top 25 polls during the 1995-96 season. The league mirrored that feat during the 1996-97 season.

MEDIA RELATIONS OFFICE

The Alabama Athletic Media Relations Office is located on the ground level of Coleman Coliseum.

MEDIA CREDENTIALS

Credentials are required for access on the floor at all University of Alabama home women's basketball games. Direct media credential requests in writing on company letterhead to Jessica Pare' in the Alabama Media Relations Office. Placecards on press row identify your seat. Credentials may be picked up at the Media Will Call table outside of the media relations office at Coleman Coliseum.

In the event of a doubleheader with the men's team, a pass to the women's game will allow you to remain in the coliseum for the men's game, but the seat on press row is good only for the women's game. Allowances will be made for media covering both events. Parking passes are only necessary for doubleheader games and should be requested far in advance. Photographer credentials should also be made in writing on company letterhead. The photo area includes both ends of the court.

INTERVIEWS

Alabama coach Wendell Hudson, her staff and players are available for interviews in person or, with prior arrangement, by telephone. Alabama practices will be in Coleman Coliseum. Practices are open to members of the media, with players and coaches available following the completion of practice, depending upon class schedules and/or travel or other plans. Media wishing to attend practice should contact the UA media relations office at least an hour before practice is scheduled to begin. Contact Jessica Pare' to obtain that day's practice plans.

On game day, only post-game interviews are allowed. Please arrange all player interviews through Assistant Media Relations Director Jessica Pare' (205) 348-3673. In accordance with the policies of the athletic department, the Media Relations Office does not give out the home phone numbers for its basketball players. Media are requested to respect the private time and the safety of Alabama's players by refraining from contacting them at their homes.

RADIO BROADCASTS

Visiting teams wishing to broadcast games from Coleman Coliseum are provided access to one phone line. The calls are charged to the visiting radio network. Should an additional line be required, broadcasters must arrange their own hookup through the University of Alabama Telecommunications Office at (205) 348-6300. Visiting radio broadcasters must call in advance or have the Media Relations notify Alabama that they will be broadcasting the game and will require credentials. Alabama provides a monitor that is hooked up to the computer stats program (Automated Scorebook) so that the electronic media can have up-to-the-second stats.

GAME SERVICES

Complete team and individual statistics (box), quotes and a running play-by-play are provided to the media who cover the Crimson Tide at home. Copies of stats, gamenotes, media guides and roster sheets are available in the Media Workroom. Complete books, which include the box and play-by-play, will be brought to the Media Workroom/post-game interview room promptly following the game's conclusion. Brief quotes from both Wendell Hudson and the visiting coach, as well as some of Alabama's players are included in the post-game package. At home games, with five minutes remaining, a member of the Media Relations staff will collect post-game interview requests. Approximately ten minutes after the game ends, the two head coaches and the players requested will come to the interview room adjacent to press row.

Ample electrical outlets and phone jacks are available in the workroom for media to write and file their story. Anyone wishing to install a private phone line must do so several weeks in advance by calling the university's telecommunications office (205) 348-6300.

INTERNET

Information about University of Alabama's athletics can be found on the internet. The University site is <http://www.rolltide.com>. For information about the women's basketball program, click on the link titled "Women's Basketball."

Information on the site includes roster, schedule, results, stats, boxscores and biographical information. Some photos are also available on the site.

From the website, Tide fans can also find a link to listen to Bama games live via the internet and follow home game action via live stats.

Wireless internet is available in Coleman Coliseum, including the media room and in the media relations offices nearby.

VIDEO FOOTAGE/SATELLITE FEEDS

The University of Alabama, through Crimson Tide Sports Marketing and the Crimson Tide Sports Network, offers a weekly 15-minute satellite feed consisting of interviews with coaches and athletes, taped highlights and a narrated tape package. The package is offered September through May. During the season, the women's basketball team is included in this package. For its key home games, Alabama may offer a feed following the game that night.

Please call Tom Roberts at CTSM (205) 348-9610, for more details including the time and coordinates if you are interested in taking the feed. To obtain videotaped footage of the team, please contact CTSM at the above number.
